If she had intended beating Meadows to death with hammer she never would have taken Peggy along. She asserted Peggy had not told all. She said she learned Albert and Phillips had planned to go away together and would tell the details later, she said.

EXTRAVAGANCE OF JAPS SHOWN IN INTOXICANTS

Consumption of Sake Shows
Big Increase and Cigarette
Smoking Flourishes

OSAKA, Japan, Oct. 31.—The consumption of sake, Japan's national and potent drink, increased from 4,366,354 koku in 1914 to 6,382,178 in 1919 and cigarettes from 7,687,174,456 to 17,955,000,000 in the same period. These figures were quoted by Dr. Mizuno, minister of home affairs as evidence of the growing extravagance of the people of Japan.

Dr. Mizuno also spoke of the excessive prices charged for entertainments. Entertainers, to hear whom not more than 1 yen would be charged in America, get 10 yen to 20 yen for seats in Tokyo and the houses always are crowded. The government, he said, had adopted measures for the reduction of prices but they had not been altogether successful.

TASKER L. ODDIE RALLY PROVES GREAT SUCCESS

Senator and W. M. Kearney are Greeted by Large Gathering at the Liberty Theater

The republican rally held last night at the Liberty theater was well attended and Senator Oddie and W. M. Kearney, the speakers, drew some telling facts, both as regards to national and state affairs. The first speaker was Senator Oddie, and he received a tremendous ovation, showing the esteem in which he is held by the people of Tonopah, where he was such a dominant figure in the early life of this camp. Senator Oddie took exception to the claims made by Senator Pittman that the latter was the one who succeeded in saving the day for free cyanide. It was none other than Mr. Oddie who appealed to Senator Gooding of Idaho, chairman of the agricultural bloc, to come to the rescue of free cyanide, and the day was won. "It is not my desire to take any credit from Senator Pittman," remarked the speaker, "but the democrats would have voted for free cyanide in any event. The real work lay in getting enough republicans in line to carry the issue, and the western republican senators were the ones who made the big fight which was so successful."

Senator Oddie advocated the election of Charles S. Chandler for United States senator, and the entire republican state ticket, saying that better results would be had by having a representative of the majority in the senate. He related of the chaotic conditions that existed in the country at the close of the Wilson administration and told of the graft and reckless expenditures of the democrats. He told of the five million idle men that flooded this country with the Wilson administration and of the great relief that followed the passage of the emergency tariff bill by the present administration, later followed by the enactment of the Fordney-McCumber bill. He impressed upon his hearers the relief that had been afforded the farmers and livestock men of the nation through the advancement of one-half billion dollars in loans to tide them over the emergency which followed as a result of the low tariff imposed by the democrats. "When farming suffers," he remarked, "all other industries, even to mining, suffers," he stated. "Our best market is the American market, and we must have a tariff high enough to keep out cheap foreign-made goods."

Senator Oddie told of the reduction in the operating expenses of the government, which were cut in two years a total of $2,710,000,000, from $6,455,000,000, while the reduction in revenue amounted to $800,000,000, with 90 per cent of the amount being in favor of those who draw salaries of $5000 a year and less. He related of the cut in transportation and freight charges that has been brought about by the present administration; the emigration restriction bill which has kept out a horde of foreigners who would have been the cause of reducing wages along all lines of endeavor had they been permitted to land on our shores; the peace conference that brought a happy understanding among the five big powers of the world; the budget bill which keeps expenditures within reason and a dozen or more other subjects of great moment to the taxpayers of the country. He dwelt at length on the silver status and said he was willing to give Pittman credit for all he had done, but that the dollar silver price would have been established in any event.

W. M. Kearney, former state engineer, threw a few bombs into the enemy camp by exposing the wild extravagance of J. G. Scruggs while the latter served as state engineer. Mr. Kearney did not appear as a seeker for office, but as a good citizen who is desirous of enlightening the voters and taxpayers regarding true conditions. Regarding water right adjudications, claimed to have been settled by Scruggs, the speaker gave some facts and figures that proved a revelation to his audience.

BONANZA BODY ORE IS FOUND AT CANDELARIA

Lucky Hill Mine Shows Wide
Faces of Ore of Excellent
Grade for Smelting

Ore for the new cyanide mill of the Candelaria Mines company is now being drawn from the Lucky Hill and Northern Belle mines and the new plant is operating smoothly and giving highly satisfactory results. All the electric and surface haulage equipment is operating in perfect shape, according to the statement of C. D. Kidding, president and manager, who spent the first of the week at the mine. The crushing plant and ball mills have given complete satisfaction and the capacity of this part of the plant is shown to be considerably above the early estimates.

New work in the Lucky Hill mine has opened wide faces of high grade ore at two new points. On the intermediate level above the main haulage tunnel, in what is known as the 1-6 section, the north drift is showing a width of 12 feet of ore assaying from 15 to 70 ounces silver per ton. At a point 75 feet farther north the northeast extension of the main vein has been penetrated by a crosscut that is now in solid ore the latest samples of which returned 56 ounces and 64 ounces per ton. A tunnel has been driven 30 feet into the Lucky Hill, 85 feet below the haulage tunnel and provided with ore pockets for loading ore from the Lucky Hill mine.

A new pumping plant has been installed to supplement the water supply, which already is sufficient for present needs. The new additions include a high-pressure pump and a Fairbanks-Morse engine, delivering an added supply by cutting into the main water line to the big concrete reservoir. Some delay was caused by the repairs to the main water line and by the leaky condition of cyanide tanks, which had become dried out during the summer months.

WILKINS MURDER TRIAL IS NEARING ITS CLOSE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31.—The sixth week of the trial of Henry Wilkins for the murder of his wife began yesterday, both sides saying they would close their testimony today. The prosecution finished its rebuttal testimony yesterday. The defense said it would put on four surprise witnesses today.

BOYS ASSAULT BETTY GUFFEY IN HER STORE

Caught in the Act of Stealing
Ladies' Coats They Render
Her Unconscious

Mrs. Betty Guffey, proprietor of a new shop just above the Nevada First National bank of Tonopah on Main street, was rendered unconscious this morning by being struck between the eyes with a lump of coal by one of two boys whom she caught in the act of robbing her place of business.

Mrs. Guffey entered the store by the front door about 10 minutes after 8 o'clock. She immediately noticed two boys, each having in his possession a valuable coat. She called to them and followed them into the rear of the building, whereupon one of the boys reached down and picked up a piece of coal, hurled it with such telling force that it rendered her unconscious. Just how long Mrs. Guffey remained unattended is not known, but shortly thereafter L. Austin, painter, who has been doing work at the building, entered for the purpose of securing a pair of overalls that he had left in the back room. There he found Mrs. Guffey in an unconscious condition. Dr. Guffey, her husband, was notified and the injured woman was removed to her home, regaining consciousness about one-half hour later.

The matter was immediately reported to the police department and Officer John Hill started an investigation. Shortly thereafter he placed under arrest a boy 14 years of age as being suspected of the attempted robbery and assault, and took him to the county jail. Search was then made for the other boy, but it is believed he is in school attendance, and following a description furnished by Mrs. Guffey, it is expected that he will be in custody before the day is over. The boy supposed to be in school is said to be the one that threw the coal that rendered Mrs. Guffey unconscious. The other boy, who is held in jail, has a bad record, according to the authorities, having been paroled by Judge Averill some time ago pending good behavior.

The boys secured entrance to Mrs. Guffey's shop through the back way. They evidently had not been there a great while when their presence was discovered by the owner, as they had only picked two coats off the racks, both of which were the most expensive in the shop.

GOVERNOR ALLEN OF KANSAS HEARD FROM

GREAT BEND, Kas., Oct. 31.—One pistol shot could produce a state of civil war in Kansas similar to that in Ireland, according to Governor Allen. He denounced certain types of Catholics and members of the Ku Klux Klan, saying both should be ashamed of themselves. He said thousands of negroes in Kansas might again take means of protection from the same organization which terrified them 55 years ago.

MEXICANS TO ADJUST COURT PROCEDURE

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 31.—Use of the amparo as a legal recourse in Mexico is to be restricted in a bill which the government intends to present to congress. Abuse of the measure is the reason. President Obregon recently declared that in many instances persons arrested have already provided themselves with an amparo which secures their immediate release without bail. The amparo is one of the most generally used and most complex procedures to be found in Mexican courts. It is sort of an injunction and writ of habeas corpus combined and is employed either to restrain a court from acting or to secure the release of a prisoner from custody.

HANNAPAH HAS BIG PRODUCER OF HIGH GRADE

Richardson Property Producing
Ore that Has Average Value of Hundred Dollars

The Richardson property at Hannapah is making a truly remarkable showing and regular shipments are going out. This ore is being taken from the drifts being extended from the bottom of the 100-foot shaft and the vein has a width of four and one-half feet and is breaking in one class a grade worth better than $100 a ton in silver.

This property gives promise of developing into one of the substantial shippers of the outside districts tributary to Tonopah, and indications are most favorable for the ore shoots being found to be persistent to much greater depth. Since operations were not under way last spring seven shipments have been made to the Belmont mill and in each instance there has been an increase in the values, which goes to show that with increased depth higher silver contents are contained.

Ben W. Richardson, the owner, purchased the property from W. F. Gray and J. J. Clark for a nominal consideration, the two latter being desirous of seeing it developed in view of the fact that they have other locations.
